The church is growing

Our move went smoothly thanks to the help of our colleagues!

This Quarter Has Been Full!

End of last year Adam was diagnosed with MS, and since then we have tried to get him in for an appointment to get started with treatment. Finally a few weeks ago we were able to get and go to an appointment with an MS specialist. We both were really pleased with him and he got Adam started right away with a new prescription. He opted for one with minimal side effects and so far he has done well on the medication. We are praising the Lord for that answer to prayer.

A Surgery

Since the beginning of the pregnancy we always thought this would be an easy delivery. Until about 15 plus hours in to full labor Mel's Dr. decided it was time to have a c-section. Turns out little Enoch had the umbilical cord wrapped around his neck three times! We are praising the Lord he arrived safe and healthy. Since it was an emergency c-section there were several complications for Mel, but now all is well and she is healing slowly but surely.

A Hold-Up

Adam was at a mini-mart in our neighborhood the other day and while he was at the register checking out two suspects entered the store and started demanding money and shooting they had weapons. Things got pretty heated and people were panicked and Adam was able to stay calm through it even though he was in between both of the suspects robbing the store. Someone outside shouted the Police were here and both of the guys took off running and didn't end up getting anything. That is a huge praise that no one was hurt through that ordeal. We live in a relatively safe area but things are getting desperate here, so people resort to desperate measures. We have been able to have church services in person but the rest of everything has been closed since January. Just a couple days ago stores were able to open and we were allowed to buy things like clothes and baby items. Things previously not allowed to be sold under our state of emergency. Even though things have been tough here God has brought new people to our church and given us opportunities to make new friends. Pray that God will continue to work in our area and bring people to Himself!

Welcome Enoch Seth Gibson!!!

He was born weighing 7lbs 14oz and almost 20 inches length.
